Evidence tools for Forensic Science

Grant Period 2 CONFERENCE

5-8.11.2018, Dubrovnik, Croatia

Forensic Imaging Techniques - an exploration of their potential as standalone tools and within a multimodal approach

Welcome to the second COST Action CA16101 Conference that will take place in the beautiful city of Dubrovnik. The conference is organised and hosted by Dr. Iva Bogdanović Radović (Ruđer Bošković Institute, Zagreb, Croatia).

This year the conference focus will be on the hyphenation of imaging techniques to boost progress in the multi-modality domain. Submissions are invited covering attempts, successes and failures in multi-modal imaging research as well as covering imaging techniques with the potential to be integrated in a multi-modal workflow.

Presentations from Industry, Academia, End Users, with some invited speakers amongst which ECIs who have distinguished themselves for innovative work in the forensic imaging science domain.

This year too, the Conference is co-localised with the Management Committee, and WG meetings as well as featuring workshops.

WG1 and WG2 Workshops will place much emphasis on Industry active participation in the discussion of the software and hardware requirements to boost imaging and multimodal imaging capabilities in the analytical and digital strand, with particular focus towards the most developed technologies (whether in operation or close to deployment). The conference programme "at glance" will shortly be announced.

See you in Dubrovnik!
